TODAY'S READINGS

First Reading- Filled with the Holy Spirit, the apostles begin to speak in tongues.

Second Reading- In one Spirit we are baptized into one body and given to drink of one Spirit.

Gospel- Jesus Christ appears to the disciples and sends them on their mission with the power to forgive or retain sins through the Holy Spirit.

Comment

We commonly equate living with breathing. We understand it instantly when Jesus breathes the life of the Holy Spirit into the dispirited apostles on Easter evening. We all can fathom in our bones that a creature of the earth came to life with the very breath of God. We all have an understanding of breathing in and out—of being alive.

Of all the gifts of the Spirit that could be given on that Easter evening, peace and forgiveness are the ones Jesus gives. He sends the apostles out to take on the difficult, necessary work of forgiveness. If they want to know the role and mission of forgiveness and unity, they need only consult his life and words. Just as he was sent by the Father, they are sent to the ends of the earth.

The first reading today reports the amazing rush of the Holy Spirit descending with the noisy might of the wind. The quiet dancing of individual flames has its effect. The apostles are courageous and unafraid. They speak in their native tongue, but are understood by all. The naming of the peoples of the nations gathered in Jerusalem signifies the population reaching to the very ends of the earth. They include us all. Devout people everywhere can understand the Gospel. They have been waiting for this good news all their lives, though they may not have known it.

Please pray for the souls of

Romeo Groppi

Henrietta Spieczny

May their souls,

Through the mercy of God,

Rest in Peace
