First Reading - Those who lead the many to justice shall be like the stars forever.

Second Reading - Where there is forgiveness, there is no longer offering for sin.

Gospel - Heaven and earth will pass away, but my words will not pass away.

Puzzles and Mysteries

As human beings we are curious about the world and the universe we inhabit. The Genesis account in the Bible is about a mystery--the mystery of our existence and our relationship to God, the creator and sustainer of life. A mystery in this sense is a sacred reality that goes beyond logical explanations. Another mystery we see in today's readings involves the question of when and how it will all end. The historical record shows that for centuries people have claimed that the end of the world is at hand. Nowadays, if you start an Internet search for "end of the world" you will turn up over 16 million results. Yet in today's Gospel, although Jesus tells us he will return at the end of time, he states quite clearly that no one can puzzle out when that end will be, neither the day nor the hour. Only God knows. In the meantime, our time is better spent on living our lives well now. As today's psalm says, "You will show me the path to life, / fullness of joys in your presence, / the delights at your right hand forever" (Psalm 16:11). Isn't that promise enough?

Pope's Universal Intention:
In the Service of Peace
